Fixing our Broken Money System: Achieving Justice, Avoiding Austerity, Reducing Debt and Creating Jobs

Confused by:

- Threats to close down our Government?
- Raising debt limits?
- Fiscal Cliffs?
- Sequestrations?
- Trillion-dollar coins?
- Too-big-to-fail banks?
- Too-big-to-jail Wall Street operators?

You should be confused!

These notions are all a result of the horrible mess most economists have made of the world's money systems.

At the Chicago Temple, James Parlor, First United Methodist Church, 77 W. Washington St. (corner, Washington and Clark)

- Fixing our broken money system!

The American Monetary Institute (AMI), founded in 1996, proudly announces this free seminar bringing together specialists to discuss how we can solve the economic crisis and answer the key monetary questions of our time.

- Stephen Zarlenga - Director and Co-Founder of the AMI, author of The Lost Science of Money and part author of Congressman Kucinich's NEED Act, H.R. 2990, will speak on what is needed for meaningful reform of our money and banking system.

- Jamie Walton - AMI Researcher and former member of Congressman Kucinich's office, who contributed to the crafting of H.R. 2990, discusses how H.R. 2990 achieves a safe and stable money and banking system, avoids austerity, reduces debt and creates millions of good-paying jobs.

- Steven Walsh - AMI Researcher and Chicago educator, who worked with the 30,000 member Chicago Teachers Union for their endorsement of the Kucinich monetary reform bill, will speak on how to engage with people from all walks of life about the need to reform of our money system.

Getting real answers must examine:

- The nature of money as a creature of the law, not a commodity.
- The banks' unwarranted money creation power - much to blame for the current economic crisis.
- Government's constitutional power to create and regulate the money supply to promote the general welfare.

Learn more about money in 2 hours than most economists learn in a lifetime!
